SESSIONS 3:00pm – 3:45pm	Concurrent Sessions 1
SESSION 1.1 Realigning the Finance Sector: Latest Developments from the Australian Sustainable Finance Initiative (ASFI) Join this session to hear the latest from ASFI representatives and finance sector experts on the recommend pathways, policies and frameworks to enable the financial services sector to contribute more systematically to the transition to a net-zero economy. MODERATOR : Katharine Tapley, Head of Sustainable Finance, ANZ PANELLISTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Simon O’Connor, CEO, Responsible Investment Association of Australia • Pip Best, NZ Director, Climate Change and Sustainability Services, EY • David Atkin, Former CEO, Cbus Super
SESSION 1.2 Combining Carbon, Environmental & Social Co-Benefit Markets In the Australian landscape, carbon farming projects provide opportunities for graziers to optimise improved land management practices and facilitate beneficial environmental and cultural co-benefits that directly deliver against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Carbon projects also work to engage traditional owners by supporting the development and growth of indigenous-led businesses through co-management arrangements. These relationships bolster understanding, management and conservation of biodiversity and environmental assets at the farm level, as well as contributing to Australia’s greenhouse gas targets. This workshop will explore co-benefit stacking on carbon projects all over Australia to better understand the economic, social and cultural impacts. MODERATOR: Nerida Bradley, General Manager, Legal & Biodiversity Head of Business Origination, GreenCollar PANELLISTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ari Gorring, Executive Director, Pollination Foundation • Joe Morrison, Conservation Management • Don Butler, Chief Scientist, Land Restoration Fund, Queensland Department of Environment & Science
SESSION 1.3 Setting Corporate Climate Change Targets Global climate action is being led by corporates that have developed sophisticated emissions reduction strategies, and #netzero2050 targets. Join a group of industry leaders who have driven this process within their organisations, to learn about the strategy and target-setting pathways available; understand what’s required to get internal buy-in from the boardroom to the shopfront; and engage with the challenges of setting corporate ambition and implementing corporate climate action. MODERATOR: Joshua Martin, Director, Climate Change & Sustainability Services, EY PANELLISTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fiona Lawrie, Sustainability & Aboriginal Affairs Manager, Wesfarmers • Mark Harris, Manager Environment, Aurizon • Tom Penny, Senior Specialist, Environmental Sustainability, Telstra

DAY 1 CLOSE

TIME	SESSION
11:30am – 12:00pm	VIRTUAL DOORS OPEN in Hopin Visit the Exhibitions, Networking Roulette, and catch other attendees for one-on-one discussions
MAIN STAGE 12:00pm – 1:00pm	OPENING REMARKS James Schultz, CEO, GreenCollar
	PLENARY FOUR Global Developments in Nature-Based Climate Solutions Nature is now acknowledged as one third of the solution to the climate challenge ahead. As we enter the Paris Era, there is now a critical need to scale up investment in nature-based solutions, presenting real opportunities for the private sector to drive not just emissions reductions, but engage in climate repair-focused carbon market activities, that supports environmental, social and economic co-benefits. Join us to discuss how markets and communities are engaging with nature-based solutions in Australia and internationally. PANEL CHAIR: James Schultz, CEO, GreenCollar PANEL SPEAKERS: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Duncan Van Bergen, Vice President, Nature Based Solutions, Shell • Kelley Kizzier, Associate Vice President for International Climate, Environmental Defense Fund • Stephen Donofrio, Director, EcoSystem Marketplace
MAIN STAGE 1:00pm – 1:10pm	CULTURAL KEYNOTE Victor Steffensen, FireSticks Alliance
1:10pm – 1:15pm	BREAK take a moment to refresh, then move off to the concurrent sessions.
SESSIONS 1:15pm – 2:00pm	Concurrent Sessions 2
SESSION 2.1 Australia’s Carbon Market Evolution 2020-2030 Australia’s carbon market is rapidly evolving, and access to carbon and related commodities is still hindered by low price discovery and low transparency of longer-term demand and supply dynamics. Join this session to learn more about how to participate in Australia’s carbon market now and into the future – hearing from our experts on changing carbon market dynamics; strategic procurement of environmental commodities; and how to reduce the risk of participating in Australia’s high-integrity carbon market. MODERATOR: Heather Layzell, Chief Operating Officer, Market Advisory Group PANELLISTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tom Spooner, Global Environmental Products, Trading & Origination, Shell • Ben Burge, Member of the Team, Telstra Energy • Raf Wood, Managing Director, Market Advisory Group
SESSION 2.2 Technology Pathways for Soil Carbon and Regenerative Agriculture The potential to store carbon in our soils, tackle agricultural emissions, and increase on-farm productivity benefits is vast, and the international community is looking to Australian experts to understand how to engage in these activities at scale. This session will discuss the solutions needed - from the finance required to expand our capabilities and projects, to the education and training of regional, agricultural and Indigenous stakeholders, and of course the commercialisation of enabling technology and data management tools. Join our world-leading experts to discuss what’s needed to engage regional and remote communities in this climate repair solution at scale. MODERATOR: Matthew Warnken, Managing Director, AgriProve PANELLISTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Louisa Kiely, Director, Carbon Farmers of Australia • Mel Ford, General Manager, ERF Branch, Clean Energy Regulator • Jennifer Lauber Patterson, Managing Director, Frontier Impact Group • Alannah Pentony, General Manager, Emissions Reduction Branch, Department of Industry, Science, Energy and Resources

SESSION 2.3

Unlocking Consumer Potential with Carbon Neutral Certification

One year on from the launch of the Climate Active brand, the Australian Government's carbon neutral initiative is playing an influential role in the market. Not only meeting their corporate climate obligations, Climate Active members are also seeing the benefits of engaging their customer base in their climate action story by providing carbon neutral events, services and products to climate-conscious consumers. Join us for this panel discussion to find out how and why you should engage clients and customers in your organisation's climate action.

MODERATOR: Polly Hemming, Communications & Engagement Manager, Climate Active

PANELLISTS

- Ben Cole, Managing Director, Wide Open Agriculture
- Emily Wood, General Manager, Brand & Customer, Frasers Property
- Brad Krauskopf, CEO & Founder, Hub Australia
- Keith Tulloch, CEO, Keith Tulloch Wines

2:00pm – 2:15pm

BREAK take a moment to refresh, then head back to the Main Stage.

PLENARY FIVE The New Global Carbon Market

As we move further down the pathways laid out by the Paris Agreement, there are many political and carbon market developments that will impact a trade-exposed Australian economy. Join our two roundtables on international developments and Asia Pacific carbon markets.

MAIN STAGE

2:15pm – 3:00pm

REMARKS Marc Vanheukelen, Ambassador at Large for Climate Diplomacy, European Union

ROUNDTABLE ONE

Emerging Geopolitics of Paris-Era Carbon Markets

Our experts will examine the geopolitical and trade relationships that are reshaping markets and global climate ambition – including EU ETS and carbon trade tariff positions; the US election results; China's carbon neutrality commitment; and implementing the Paris Agreement.

PANEL CHAIR: Emily Gerrard, Director, Comhar Group

PANELLISTS:

- Jamie Isbister, Ambassador for the Environment, Australian Government
- Kay Harrison, Climate Change Ambassador, Government of New Zealand
- Dirk Forrister, President & CEO, International Emissions Trading Association

MAIN STAGE

3:00pm – 3:45pm

ROUNDTABLE TWO

The Rise of Asia Pacific Carbon Markets

Carbon markets are evolving rapidly across the Asia Pacific, and these changes will have critical implications for trade-exposed businesses, and for our regional aid, trade and diplomatic relationships in the coming years. Our experts will discuss the carbon market expansions for two of Australia's key trading partners China and South Korea, as well as examine how our Pacific neighbours as 'Big Ocean States' are exploring market-based climate action and natural climate solutions.

PANEL CHAIR: Matthew Bell, Asia Pacific Climate Change & Sustainability Services Leader, EY

PANELLISTS:

- Hon. Aiyaz Sayed-Khaiyum, Minister for the Economy and responsible for Climate Change, Republic of Fiji
- Eunjung Kim, Senior Research Fellow, Korea Legislative Research Institute
- Zhang Xiliang, Executive Director, Institute of Energy, Environment & the Economy, Tsinghua University

3:45pm – 4:00pm

BREAK visit exhibits, or go to the networking hall and spin the networking roulette wheel!

SESSIONS

4:00pm – 4:45pm

Concurrent Sessions 3SESSION 3.1*Implementing Article 6 of the Paris Agreement

Without the finalised rules of Article 6 of the Paris Agreement, we don't yet have an understanding of how international carbon markets will function and evolve in the coming years. Critically, clarity on issues including corresponding adjustments, double counting, treatment of voluntary action inside or outside of a country's NDC's are still out of our grasp. Despite this, international carbon markets are moving rapidly, and business and governments are positioning to take advantage of carbon markets when the rules are clear, including examination of Article 6 pilot activities, and how Paris will interact with CORSIA. Join our expert panel to discuss the future of global carbon markets under Article 6, implications for Australian business, and how to manage risks and opportunities as we head towards COP26.

MODERATOR: Ilona Millar, Partner, Baker McKenzie

PANELLISTS

- Nigel Brunel, Director, Institutional Commodities, Jarden Australia
- Amy Steen | Perumal Arumugam, Sustainable Development Mechanism Team, UNFCCC
- Representative, Global Carbon Markets, Verra

SESSION 3.2Carbon Capture & Storage: Vital to Achieving Net-Zero

Carbon capture, storage and utilisation is taking a more prominent role as a critical technology for industrial drawdown, that can help many hard-to-abate sectors on the road to a #netzero2050 future. Join a panel of global experts to discuss the current status of the CCS industry to date, including the various technologies that are emerging, the policies and processes underway to help commercialise, and how these projects are having a material impact on industrial emissions right now.

MODERATOR: Alex Zapantis, General Manager, Commercial, Global Carbon Capture & Storage Institute

PANELLISTS

- Mark McCallum, CEO, Low Emissions Technology Australia
- Ian Filby, Project Director, CarbonNet
- Brad Page, CEO, Global Carbon Capture & Storage Institute

SESSION 3.3Inclusive Strategies for Regional Recovery

In adapting to the current and future impacts of climate change, it's critical that we ensure a just transition protects our most vulnerable communities, workers and livelihoods. In regions that are already feeling the impacts of climate change, there exist opportunities to create livelihoods that will thrive in a carbon constrained future - and contribute to climate repair, sustainable production and protect biodiversity. Join our discussion on how we can support just transitions for regions across Australia.

MODERATOR: Skye Glenday, CEO, Climate Friendly

PANELLISTS

- Kate Andrews, CEO, NRM Regions Australia
- Dr Georgina Woods, NSW Coordinator, Lock the Gate Alliance | Lead, Hunter Renewal Project
- Suzanne Thompson, Managing Director, Yambangku Aboriginal Cultural Heritage & Tourism Development Aboriginal Corporation (YACHATDAC)

4:45pm – 5:00pm

BREAK grab a drink, visit exhibits, or go to the networking hall and spin the networking roulette wheel!

MAIN STAGE

SESSIONS 11:45am – 12:30pm	Concurrent Sessions 4
SESSION 4.1 New Industrial Technologies for Net-Zero Industry decarbonisation will need broad step-change developments over the longer term. However, near and medium-term action requires an understanding of technologies that can enable incremental change in the near to medium term. This session will discuss building the business case for industrial technologies that are already available to help decarbonise emissions-intensive assets, and what’s needed to create pathways for change in hard-to-abate-sectors. MODERATOR: Tzila Katzel, Director Policy, Environmental & Community Affairs, BP Australia PANEL SPEAKERS: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Troy Powell, Head of Sustainability, Orica Mary Stewart, CEO, Energetics Matthew Imber, Corporate Environment Manager, Bluescope
SESSION 4.2 A National Approach to Sub-National Climate Action All Australian states and territories are now working towards a net-zero future. There is real interest from the private and community sectors on working in a harmonised way with governments, to drive decarbonisation outcomes across and between sub-national landscapes. Each jurisdiction is tackling its own unique challenges - including energy and industrial transitions; the creation and stimulation of carbon markets; and the development of carbon farming sectors to enhance climate repair across regional landscapes. Join our panel of high-level government representatives to discuss common net-zero goals, and get a better understanding of how interjurisdictional dialogue can enhance national collaboration on sub-national emissions reductions – and enable greater private sector investment. MODERATOR: Karen Hussey, Deputy Director General, Qld Dept. of Environment and Science PANELLISTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Stephen Bygrave, Director Climate Resilience & Net Zero Emissions, NSW Dept. of Planning, Industry and Environment Mark Rodrigues, Executive Director, Climate Change, VIC. BREAK grab lunch, visit exhibits, or go to the networking hall and spin the networking roulette wheel!

MAIN STAGE

1:00pm – 1:45pm

PLENARY SEVEN Responsibility, Activism, Liability & Litigation

Regulators, shareholders, investors, consumers and activists are increasingly demanding greater disclosure and transparency on climate risk and transition strategies from corporate Australia and their directors and senior management. This session will hear from those across civil society, academia and the private sector who are considering corporate duties in an era of transition, especially given a new context in which legal challenges and rapidly changing social expectations are front of mind. Join this session for an "over the horizon" examination of opportunities and challenges from these vital stakeholders.

PANEL CHAIR: Travers McLeod, CEO, Centre for Policy Development

PANELLISTS

- Brynn O'Brien, Executive Director, Australasian Centre for Corporate Responsibility
- Zoe Whitton, Head of APAC ESG Research, Citi
- Arjuna Dibley, Fellow, Steyer-Taylor Centre for Energy Policy & Finance, Stanford University
- Alex Fuller, National Director, Australian Youth Climate Coalition

MAIN STAGE

1:45pm – 2:30pm

REMARKS Darren Miller, CEO, Australian Renewable Energy Agency

PLENARY EIGHT Charting Australia's Clean Technology Pathways

Australia is increasing its focus on biological, industrial and geological technologies to drive economic decarbonization in the coming months and years. Join our expert panel to discuss the national policies, frameworks and incentives that will shape how we develop, commercialise and deploy technology at scale across Australia.

SESSION CHAIR: Megan Flynn, Executive Director, Pollination

PANELLISTS

- Ian Learmonth, CEO, Clean Energy Finance Corporation
- Wendy Craik, Chair, Climate Change Authority
- David Parker, Chair, Clean Energy Regulator

MAIN STAGE

2:30pm – 3:15pm

PLENARY NINE Carbon Markets Future Vision

Global carbon markets are emerging and evolving. Australia is streamlining its market as we see important steps in NZ, China and elsewhere. Renewed momentum could see international trading arrangements clarified at COP26 while the potential for carbon border adjustments grows. Participate in an active discussion with our panel of global market thought leaders and contribute to the definition of a new Australian carbon markets vision for 2030 and 2050.

PANEL CHAIR: John Connor, CEO, Carbon Market Institute

PANEL SPEAKERS:

- Raf Wood, Managing Director, Market Advisory Group
- Christina Hood, Principal Consultant, Compass Climate | Former Head, IEA Climate Unit
